

Abstract

An electrically modifiable label. In some embodiments, an electrically modifiable 5 label may be applied to or form a part of products that have configurable or otherwise dynamic characteristics. That is, characteristics or desirability that vary over time or characteristics that may be selected or determined at or after advanced stages of manufacturing processes.